Across Our Communities

Community Crisis
RESPONSE TEAM

READY WHEN YOU NEED US. HERE TO HELP.

Why the CCRT Matters

During times of crisis, immediate and effective response is critical to stabilizing individuals and communities. The Community Crisis Response Team (CCRT) offers:

- Enhanced Support: Additional resources to bolster existing crisis response efforts across the community.
- Specialized Expertise: Trained mental health professionals, crisis intervention specialists, and community partners equipped to handle various crisis situations.
- Community Connection: Bridging efforts with local mental health services to provide comprehensive care and resources.
- Post-Crisis Recovery: Ongoing support to stabilize and restore emotional well-being after a crisis.

What the CCRT Can Offer

The CCRT provides a range of crisis response services, including:

- Immediate Crisis Support: Rapid deployment of mental health professionals to assist during a crisis.
- Crisis Intervention: De-escalation strategies to reduce harm and stabilize affected individuals.
- Community-Based Support: Assistance in community-wide crises such as natural disasters, violence, or significant traumatic events.
- Trauma-Informed Care: Specialized interventions to address emotional and psychological impacts.
- Resource Coordination: Connecting individuals with local and regional support services for ongoing assistance.

When to call

The CCRT can be activated for:

- Natural disasters or severe weather events
- Community violence or mass casualty incidents
- Sudden or unexpected deaths impacting the community
- Any situation causing widespread emotional distress
